'Plane Carries Him to Combat Zone for First Time in Five Years

DIRECTS OPERATIONS Orders Air War Intensified To Expel Russian-Trained Troops

By Howard Handleman
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)
GEN. MACARTHUR'S FIELD HEADQUARTERS, KOREA, June 29 — (INS) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur landed in war-ravaged South Korea today amid the growing fury of smashing U. S. air blows against North Korea's invading Communists.

MacArthur's personal plane—the Bataan—carried the five-starred occupation commander to a combat zone for the first time in almost five years.

As he stepped from his C-54, groups of B-29 Superforts, jet fighters, B-26 medium bombers and other U. S. warplanes roared overhead en route to or returning from combat missions.

MacArthur ordered the air war intensified before he boarded the Bataan at Tokyo's Haneda Airport with high staff officers who accompanied him on his daring mission. He will organize and direct military operations to expel North Korea's Russian-trained troops from South Korea's American-sponsored republic.

Four-engine B-29s joined for the first time in the mounting air offensive by blasting the Communist-held Kimpo airdrome, 15 miles northwest of Seoul, Korea's fallen capital.

"Silver Whistle" Comedy Will Star Henry Jones

NEW HOPE, June 29 — The "Silver Whistle," one of the most fabulous comedies of recent seasons, will open a week's engagement at Theron Bamberger's Bucks County Playhouse on Monday evening, July 3rd. Henry Jones, who has won the affection of New Hope audiences by his many and varied performances, will be starred in the role of a romantically minded tramp who spreads his happy-go-lucky philosophy that life is meant merely to be enjoyed.

Written by Robert E. McEnroe, "The Silver Whistle" was a Theatre Guild success in New York as well as a great hit on a coast-to-coast tour.

Enid Markey, one of the best of Broadway's comedienne, and Wallace Acton who was so amusing as the Dauphin in the New Hope production of "Joan of Lorraine," will be featured along with Judy Parrish, who has been acting all season with Katharine Hepburn for the Theatre Guild in "As You Like It." Sara Seeger, who won high praise for her role of the glamorous Julie Cavendish in "The Royal Family" two weeks ago, will be transformed into a giddy old crone, a part that will again demonstrate her versatile talent. Others in the cast include Ruth White, Carl White, Harry Meahaffey, James Dooan, Jane Marbury of the original Theatre Guild company, Truman Smith, Robert Nutt. The comedy will be staged by Robert Caldwell who was responsible last year for the direction of "The Torch-Bearers."

TWO EMILIE WOMEN ACQUIRE "VACATION TAN" BY KEEPING ROADSIDES FREE OF GRASS; CUT 6 MILES A DAY; FLAT TIRES THEIR ENEMIES

EMILIE, June 28—Traditionally, so the saying goes, a woman's place is in the home, but what with women doctors and lawyers and others daily exploding the idea it isn't too surprising to hear of women working in the Pennsylvania State Department of Highways in jobs usually held by the whiskered sex.

Mrs. Norman Martin and Mrs. Elsie Horner, of Emilie, spend their summer months slaving over a hot tractor trimming grass along the sides of many miles of rural roads.

Both women handle their heavy tractors, equipped with power mowers, like experts. They daily cut three miles of roadside grass, trimming both sides of the lanes to total six miles of grass cutting a day.

Mrs. Horner has been doing this work for two years and has gotten used to the surprised stares of motorists who pass her by. Mrs. Martin is a newcomer to the job, having taken over this spring for her husband, who has another job.

The tractors are employed by the highway department, but the women, strictly speaking, are not. The department hires out tractors from persons who contract to do the work, and it's not too important who does the actual cutting.

J. Claude White, of the department's Doylestown branch, says that often it's a hard job to get people to do this work, and he's glad to have Mrs. Horner and Mrs. Martin manning the mowers.

Sunburn and flat tires are the two most prevalent occupational hazards that the women have to face. Since they can only work during non-rainy days, the two usually end the summer with a nice vacation-type tan. The big headache is flat tires, which are easy to get on the jagged material found alongside the roads.

The women began cutting the first of this month and will continue as long as the grass keeps coming up, which will be about until the latter part of August. Mrs. Horner and Mrs. Martin work on roads in Middletown, Falls, and Bristol townships, doing their jobs under the direction of Frank Ostrowski, of Bristol.

FRISA VICTIM OF GUNSHOT WOUND OF HEART, "SELF-INFLICTED", IS VERDICT OF THE CORONER; DISCOVERY MADE ABOUT 8 HOURS AFTER DEATH

TREVOSE, June 29 — That George W. Frisa, 59, of Bristol and Meadowbrook roads, Lower Southampton township, was the victim of "gunshot wound of the heart, self-inflicted" was the verdict of Bucks County Coroner J. Alfred Rigby, Cornwells Heights.

The lifeless body of Frisa was found Tuesday between 10 and 11 a. m. in his trailer-type home where he and his brother, Theodore, resided. According to Coroner Rigby, Frisa had been dead about eight hours, placing the time of death at about two a. m.

It is stated that the .32 calibre revolver used was found in the bed just below Frisa's left knee.

The brother, Theodore, was asleep at the time, he states, and did not hear the shot.

It was not until a neighbor, Mrs. Joseph Bunse, went to the trailer between 10 and 11 a. m. to deliver a message to Theodore Frisa that the death of George was discovered. Upon inquiring of Theodore how his brother was, Theodore informed Mrs. Bunse he had called him two or three times, but that George did not respond. He suggested that Mrs. Bunse try to arouse him, and she, being unable to do so, went for aid.

When State Police of Langhorne barracks, Trevoese Heights Rescue Squad members, and Coroner Rigby examined the body, the bullet wound was discovered.

Sponsored by the Clubmen's Association of Bristol, there will be included unusual set-pieces of pyrotechnics which the public is invited to witness.

The program will open at 7.30, with brief speeches by Burgess I. Johnston Hetherington, Sr.; president of Bristol borough council, John Smoyer, III.; Chief of Police, Linford J. Jones; Fire Chief Clifford Hagerman, Sr.; and president of the Clubmen's Association, Bruno Nonini.

There will also be presentation of a bicycle to Joseph Antonelli, for winning the championship in the Bucks County marble tournament, and for his participation in the state championships at Harrisburg. This presentation will be by the commander of Chester W. Terchon, Veterans of Foreign Wars, H. R. Kornstedt, Jr., the bicycle being a gift of the post. ## POLICE TO TAG CARS ON STREET OVERNIGHT

Campaign Will Start Here July 1st, It Is Stated by Chief Jones

CHASE 'ALL-NIGHTERS'

Once again an effort is to be made to rid the streets of Bristol of automobiles which are parked "all-night" on the streets here.

The police department announced today that beginning Saturday, July 1st, officers will tag the cars found parked "all-night."

Cars parked all-night on the public streets are a menace to traffic and to the public in general, police say. Children run out from between the cars and from in front of or in back of them into the path of moving vehicles. This causes accidents and has been the cause of accidents to not only children but to adults as well.

An effort is also to be made to rid the streets of cars which for one reason or another are parked for long periods. These consist of cars which do not function, trucks which are not used for several days at a time. These are not only an eye sore, but something which detracts from the appearance of the borough to strangers driving through the community.

Chief of Police Linford J. Jones, confirmed today, that police officers starting July 1st will tag cars parked "all-night" on the streets here.

And if milk is such an aid to longevity how come more cows aren't drawing old age pensions?

But I hear when the news reached Washington our agricultural economists just shuddered... all that milk and no potatoes.

Anyway we'd probably just shift to a milk economy when the cows would go on strike for shorter bottles and longer rest periods.

It must always be borne in mind that cows stand on the ground and underneath that ground is coal... that makes them curd carriers.

Well if we do shift to a milk diet as a nation it will make millions of housewives happy... they're tired of answering that nightly question "What's for dinner?"

Russian Airmen Join Red Invaders

Fukuoka, Japan — Russian airmen were reported by American flyers tonight to have entered into the Korean war on the side of the Northern Communist invaders. One of the returning U. S. airmen, Sgt. J. R. Drew Brewbaker, of Vandalla, Ill., flight engineer of a C-54, declared: "All who saw it (the Suwon raid) are convinced that Russians were at the controls. That raid was executed in tip-top style. We know that Koreans do not fly like that."

Patients Elated Over Doctor's Reinstatement

Manchester, N. H. — Friends and patients were elated today over the reinstatement of Dr. Hermann N. Sander to medical practice. Indications were, however, that he faced a long wait before he will be permitted the use of Manchester Hospital facilities. Dr. C. Lloyd Wells of Manchester, secretary of the Hillsborough County Medical Society, said the physician, who last March was acquitted of the "air bubble" death of a cancer patient, will have to reapply for membership.

Both Talmadge, Thompson Claim Advantage

Atlanta — Gov. Herman Talmadge and M. E. Thompson, Georgia's famed one-time "double governors," both claimed the advantage today in returns from the State Democratic Primary. Young Talmadge maintained he has followed in the footsteps of his late father by winning the governorship without a majority of the popular vote. But Thompson, former acting governor, refused to concede although he led in counties having only 120 unit votes.

MacArthur Returns From Korean Inspection

Tokyo — Gen. Douglas MacArthur returned tonight from a one-day inspection trip to South Korea — where he risked his life to get close-up views of infantry and air action — and expressed optimism regarding the chances of winning the war against the North Korean Communist invaders. The Allied supreme commander flew back to Tokyo's Haneda Airport after watching South and North Korean infantry in fierce battle south of Red-captured Seoul and observing a raid on the Suwon airdrome in which Russian airmen were believed by U. S. flyers to have participated.

DEMANDING RECOUNT

Johnstown, Pa., is dissatisfied with what came out of the recent census as far as Johnstown is concerned, and city council has asked Rep. John P. Saylor to demand another count. According to the census, the number of dwelling units in Johnstown increased by 1,050 since 1940, while the population of the city declined from 66,688 to 62,723.

This anomaly has been apparent in census statistics for other cities as released day by day — always with the explanation that "these figures are tentative and subject to correction." Billions of dollars of taxpayers' money has been appropriated by Congress to provide housing, and one of the arguments whenever there is debate in Congress on these handouts is that many families have been forced to double up. If that is so, why is the number of dwelling units increasing while the population is declining?

Why census figures should be "subject to correction" is something else that a taxpayer not familiar with bureaucratic gobbledegook cannot understand. Census takers counted all the people in their area or they didn't. In either case, what is there to correct in the totals?

It will be interesting to see what the total population of the United States is when the figures are finally announced—"subject to correction." Indications are that it will fall short of the 150-000,000 estimate widely as probable.

As for the unsatisfactory count, seven cents a name wasn't much of an incentive for enumerators to keep on the trail of hard-to-find people. Many people who know they were not counted have not come forward. Is that because they are weary of government activities in their lives and want as little to do with government processes as possible unless they have something coming to them?

BITING DOGS

Ever since the first man undertook to deliver mail for his neighbors, there have been innumerable obstacles in the way, from storm and sleet to injuns — and dogs.

It's really not funny for a mail man who has a schedule to meet.
He does not have time to placate
a perverse animal that has no better sense than to harass a mail man. There is a regulation of the Post Office Department that a mail carrier is not compelled to deliver mail to any house that harbors a vicious dog.

Mail men of other decades can spin yarns of sniping bandits and marauding redskins who lurked on the trails of the Pony express.
There were also the mail men who bucked sleet and deluge — but all these were nothing compared to an ugly dog that goes berserk and decides that the mail man is an invader.

If a day on earth millions of years ago was only four hours long, as meteorologists claim, how people get in all their loadings.

rendition from Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata."

Mrs. George W. Sotter showed small watercolor of the mountains around Tucson, Ariz. Miss Armstrong showed a book of colored prints of old Colonial houses, and Mrs. Isabel Rodgers showed an oil of fields with wild mustard. Mrs. Ginther exhibited a madonna plaque, an oil of the courtyard of the club on the Rue-de-Chèvreuse, Paris, and another of the Brown farm. These showed the lines of the barracks now being taken down.

Playing a leading role at the meeting of Chalfont Grange, on Monday, were the women, who exhibited a large number of flower arrangements under the direction of the home economics committee. Owing to intense heat, the meeting, which was attended by about 25 persons, was brief.

Announcement was made during the business session that Upper Bucks Pomona Grange, No. 50, will hold a picnic in connection with its quarterly meeting on August 26. The business session will take place at the headquarters of Richland Grange, and the outing will be staged at Memorial Park, Quakertown. The local Grange will hold its picnic on the grounds of the Grange on August 14.

Bridge at Yardley Will Be Closed for Repairs

YARDLEY, June 29—For a period of one month, beginning July 12th, the Delaware River bridge, between here and Wilburtha, N. J., is to be closed to traffic. This will permit construction of new flooring.

The Ewing Township committee was notified at its meeting last night by the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission that the span will be open to one-way traffic only beginning July 1. Eleven days later it will be closed completely except for use by pedestrians.

The span is heavily traveled during rush hours by employees of Chase Aircraft Co. and General Motors who will be forced to use the Calhoun St. or Washington Crossing bridges for the duration. The Conn Welding and Machine Co. of New Castle, Pa., are contractors for the new flooring and Edward Denzler, Jr., is chief engineer for the bridge commission.

THE OUTDOORS

By John Murphy
(I. N. S. Outdoor Editor)

Hunters and anglers stand to gain far more than they lose through future advances with atom bombs.

This is the prediction of Richard Gerstell, nuclear fission AND wildlife expert in a June Sports Afield article titled "What The Atom Bomb Will Do To Wildlife."

The greatest threat to wildlife from an atom bomb explosion, says Mr. Gerstell, is, of course, from the immediate effect on the specimens within a few hundred yards of the point of detonation.

Referring to the so-called "radioactive" pollution, he states:

"Live fish, fowl and furbearers carrying small but readily detectable amounts of radioactive wastes picked up from an exploded bomb are not necessarily swimming, flying or crawling booby traps that offer serious human hazards."

An atom bomb explosion toll of wildlife would not likely exceed a few days' take by hunters, anglers and commercial fishing boats, Mr. Gerstell estimates.

The use of atom tracer materials may eventually assist in determining the basic nutritional requirements for game birds and fishes, according to Mr. Gerstell, and in many other ways benefit wildlife far beyond the horrible devastation of a mere atomic explosion.

Indeed, he writes, "in the field of genetics, the use of tracer atoms could one day explain why some gray squirrels are black, and some black bears brown."

Robby Choates
A recent poll of major league ball players shows that by far the number one hobby choices are hunting and fishing.

Spring thus far hasn't been too co-operative in most of the nation, and as a result the fishing license sales are below normal in many states.

Angling, however, is a disease, akin to laziness, and induced by warm sunshine!

Conservation is becoming a frugal business. For years the doctrine has been to "hold on to the soil." Now comes the U. S. Department of Agriculture with a new bulletin which recommends the conservation of soil AND WATER.

Water that falls and runs away is lost forever, and isn't at hand when it's needed most... during a drought, according to the Department.

Farm Bulletin No. 3002 explains how to "hold on to the water."

Another foolhardy peasant:
One flew against the window of a Jackson, Michigan sporting goods store. When an employee opened the door to investigate the ill-advised peasant darted inside... and hid under the shotgun cabinet!

Ohio, whose annual rabbit highway toll is an estimated million, offers some suggestions to game-killing motorists:

1. Flick the light switch from dim to bright several times.

2. Give the horn a few short blasts.

3. Give wildlife on the highway "a brake," particularly in the early morning hours.

Grass Seeders
Johnny Appleseed has a modern counterpart, "Johnny GRASS Seed!"

Someone suggested it at an Isaac Walton League chapter meeting at Grand Junction, Colorado.

Anyone can become a "Johnny Grass Seed" by simply scattering grass seed here and there during excursions afield, just as the real Johnny Appleseed scattered his apple seeds and the true doctrine of personal conservation.

Army Worms Attack In Lower Bucks Co.

equipment have been used, and in a number of instances the spray materials have been put on by airplanes on a custom basis. Many farmers have operated their own spray rigs, usually attached to tractors.

"Because the insecticides are poisonous, they cannot be used on grass fields used for grazing or from which hay is to be made; nor on maturing barley, or oats later, because the insecticide clings to the husks which remain on the harvested grain.

"The situation is getting under control, from the use of insecticides, and because of an important assist from a second insect which is preying upon the army worms. Up to 95 per cent of the worms, in some instances, have been heavily parasitized.

"On each of the parasitized worms are deposits of two or more eggs laid by a fly resembling the housefly. As these hatch their larvae feast upon the host worms and kill them.

"Larvae of the army worm resemble the ordinary cutworm. They are a dull gray and one and a half to two inches long. Mature moths are a brownish gray with a wingspread of almost two inches, and look very much like several other common moths which sit about laying eggs, from which the worms quickly hatch, on leaves of grass or similar plants.

"The worms hide under stones or other cover during the day, coming out at night for their voracious attacks. After devouring the tender growth on their first plant host they move rapidly away, going in any direction, but always moving in a straight line, in search of other plants to eat. They cut the heads from Tennessee Winter barley, but attack the Wong variety less severely. Wheat, corn and timothy are other favorites. Legumes also have been attacked, but less severely."

Hazards to Child in Summer

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

SUMMER has some special hazards for children, especially young children. With children some from school, many of them play in the street, when more toddlers incline to go there, too. And with such long days and so much good weather, children from two to six more often face such dangers in summer than in winter.

Then, too, tots incline to wander off from the home yard and lawn and to explore new places. Some are attracted to ponds and streams, and summer freshets claim some little lives. In rural areas where so many new ponds are being made, water hazards increase for tots. Also some youngsters from six to twelve build rafts and venture with them on larger streams, ponds and lakes. Besides, the "old swimming hole" has perils for children who can't swim. And children who are not well disciplined and supervised may venture into deep water at regular bathing places. Because many parents are not alert to such dangers there are a good many tragedies.

Moral Hazards
For children under twelve or thirteen there are increasing moral hazards in summer, especially in outlying areas of villages, towns and cities. Children find it great fun to play at hide-and-seek and other chasing games or just at exploring among shrubbery, trees and underbrush. Being out of the sight of older persons, these strolling youngsters may engage in sex exploring and experimenting. One or two older youngsters can do immeasurable moral harm to younger children teaching them bad sex habits. (My bulletin, "Undesirable

Sex Habits in Children may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)
Often parents whose young children can roam over wide areas away from the dangerous street or highway feel that their children are wholly safe. They are relatively safe from traffic perils but may face more moral hazards than if they lived in the slums of a city. These parents should be more watchful of their youngsters, know where they are and check on them more frequently.

Young Children
About the flower and vegetable garden, urban or rural, are perils from poisonous insecticides, especially to young children. The little child may touch or taste plants or fruit just sprayed and get into the spraying materials not properly stored. About the farm may be various kinds of poisonous materials. Also fluids there strong in acids and alkalis can be very perilous to young children. Wise parents have special places for keeping such materials. They also train the young child to avoid these places, having educated him well to respect "No." (My bulletin, "How Teach Tot Meaning of No" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

About the farm are also many hazards to young children from the animals there and especially from the machinery — mower, hayrake, hayfork, tractor and the like. All the hazards about the farm to the child who grows up there increase greatly for the youngster who visits the farm from his urban home.

Wishing to keep our children safe and whole, we need to be constantly alert to the perils facing them in summer.

MacArthur Lands In Korea
Amid Air Blows Fury

reported to MacArthur that the giant B-29s, which played a major role in the Pacific war against Japan, "struck primary targets with good results."

One of the B-29s, returning from the Kimpo strike, crashed in the sea Wednesday, killing two of its crew members.
Other prime targets of the Superforts were South Korean supply and ammunition depots now in Communist hands as well as new supply dumps established by the North Korean Reds.
MacArthur went to Korea to learn first hand what President

Syngman Rhee's embattled republic needs to turn back the Communist forces and stamp out guerrilla bands operating behind South Korean lines.

He entered a country in chaos. Highways are clogged with refugees and the hillsides filled with Communist guerrillas.

MacArthur's task will be to whip the South Koreans into shape to fight back and stem the Communist advance.

The General said he will stay on the Korean front for two days "to help restore morale and make an evaluation" of the military situation.

The situation MacArthur found on his arrival in South Korea was not favorable, from the standpoint of ground operations.

The tank-led North Korean steamroller appeared to have battered its way at least 15 miles south from Seoul within 24 hours.

B-29 airmen, returning from bombing attacks on Red-captured South Korean ammunition dumps, said the still-fluid battleline now was situated ten miles north of Suwon, which is 25 miles south of Seoul.

The South Korean army was reported to have lost all of its artillery.

The government of President Syngman Rhee was last reported at Taejon, 88 miles south-southeast of Seoul. From that point, according to a late dispatch from INS correspondent Ray Richards, President Rhee appealed for rush deliveries of heavy American arms.

"There is little optimism in South Korea because we have no artillery," Rhee was quoted as saying. "There can be little hope in South Korea until heavy arms are furnished."

The South Korean president, forced by the Communist advance to retreat from one city to another, said his emergency capital may be moved to the naval base of Chinhae at the very tip of the Korean peninsula. Chinhae lies 110 airline miles south east of Taejon.

American war materials were flowing in mounting numbers and quantities from Japan to the South Korean front, transported mostly by means of a giant airlift.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters denied a report that the supreme commander had asked permission to dispatch his crack U. S. Army First Cavalry Division from Japan to South Korea to enter battle with the Red invaders.

However, infantry signal corps troops were sent to the Korean front to set up communications.

Under President Truman's order sent to MacArthur Tuesday, only air and naval forces were authorized to intervene in actual combat with the North Koreans.

The second day of the American air offensive began at dawn when heavy, medium and light bombers as well as jet and rocket-firing fighters swarmed over Communist strongpoints, battle positions, communication centers and troops.

In addition to the Kimpo Airport B-29 blasting, the U. S. warplanes hammered and raked Red gun emplacements, tank concentrations and columns and truck convoys.

Under President Truman's order sent to MacArthur Tuesday, only air and naval forces were authorized to intervene in actual combat with the North Koreans.

The second day of the American air offensive began at dawn when heavy, medium and light bombers as well as jet and rocket-firing fighters swarmed over Communist strongpoints, battle positions, communication centers and troops.

In addition to the Kimpo Airport B-29 blasting, the U. S. warplanes hammered and raked Red gun emplacements, tank concentrations and columns and truck convoys.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Take Heart, Rabbits

Washington, June 29. There is real encouragement in certain political happenings of the past six weeks for those scared rabbits in Congress who, though hating it in their hearts, dare not assert independence of the bullying labor bosses, who threaten to drive out of public life men who refuse to take their orders.

The first of these, of course, was the failure of the CIO-AFL-Brotherhood combination to save Senator Pepper from a crushing defeat in Florida, though he was their outstanding labor stooge and they exerted their full strength and spent a lot of money in his behalf. Another incident was the stern denunciation by Governor Duff of Pennsylvania of the "criminal violence" shown by the unions in the milk strike. He compared those who held up and upset milk trucks with bandits and promptly ordered State police to put an end to it. Reports are that Governor Duff, now Republican candidate for the Senate, has been greatly strengthened by this action. The labor bosses hastened to disclaim and deplore violence, the people applauded and there has been complete absence of threats toward the Governor.

A third example was in the California primary, where the CIO-AFL-supported candidates — "Jimmie" Roosevelt for governor and Helen Gahagan Douglas for senator — were unable to make a sufficiently impressive showing to prevent the odds from being 8 to 5 in favor of their Republican opponents in a state where the Democrats have a registration majority of more than a million. Further evidence of the prospects of "Jimmie" and Mrs. Douglas, who have been rushing around the State promising everybody, everything, are the pathetic pleas of their friends that General Eisenhower give a public pat on the back to "Jimmie" and that Editor Manchester Boddy, Mrs. Douglas's primary opponent, now declare he didn't mean any of the critical things he said or wrote about her.

The arguments for these ideas are unconvincing. For example, it is asserted that General Eisenhower owes a debt of gratitude to "Jimmie" for urging his nomination at the Democratic Convention of 1948. Of course, the fact is a great many other unauthorized and publicity-seeking persons were urging General Eisenhower at that time. Most of them — like "Jimmie" — were not pro-Eisenhower, just anti-Truman. The General had said in a way no friend could mistake that he did not want a presidential nomination then. Particularly, he did not want a Democratic nomination. "Jimmie's" noisy boasting did him no favor. Rather, it embarrassed him. He owes him no pat on the back. If anything, he owes him a kick in the pants. As for Mr. Boddy, the idea is he should swallow his critical words about the arch Mrs. Douglas out of "chivalry." Well, well, well, think of that! It seems extremely unlikely that either the General or Mr. Boddy will be prodded into that kind of mutton-headedness.

A final encouragement to the scared rabbits is the Ohio situation. That fight started months ago with an avalanche of propaganda and fiery declarations by the labor bosses that Senator Taft, author of the Taft-Hartley Act and "Public Enemy No. 1," was to be "driven out of public life." The issue, they proclaimed, was clearly drawn between labor's enemies and labor's friends. Every ounce of strength labor could muster would be thrown into the battle. With full support from Chairman Boyle and the White House, they were confident of killing off Mr. Taft by such a majority as greatly to enhance labor's political power. Out of victory would emerge a national American Labor party along British lines.

But it isn't working out that way. In the first place, there was a wide public reaction in the country against the gross arrogance of the labor attitude. People sensed what it would mean to public life here if they could make good on their threats. Senator Taft quietly campaigned in every Ohio county, presenting the facts. The net result was the union politicians, even with Mr. Boyle's help, were unable to get any outstanding Democrat to run against him and reluctantly have had to get behind a political pigmy. And a few days ago the popular and independent Democratic Governor Lausche, candidate for re-election, and the original labor choice to run against Mr. Taft, came out in a stimulating statement strongly indicating his intention of voting for him "in the national interests."

Now, they have backed away from their own issue. They no longer want the fight to be one between Senator Taft and themselves. Privately, they concede Mr. Taft is practically a two-to-one bet to win. They still screech about this "evil man" and the awful iniquity of the Taft-Hartley law. But so usually they have softened and weakened. And their journalistic interpreters shy away from the labor issues, insist the real fight against Mr. Taft is because of his "isolationism," which is not so, and his extreme conservatism, which is disproved by his record. Add all these things up and there does seem reason for the scared rabbits to take heart. They ought to know by now that these windy labor politicians are more than half bluff and bluster and that the bulk of American people have a strong distaste for them.

Scouts Await Opening Ceremony at Jamboree

Invited the Scouts to hold their second National Jamboree on the ground made historic by the encampment of George Washington and his Continental Army of 10,000 men from Dec. 19, 1777 to June 19, 1778. Gov. Duff will be among the dignitaries greeting the President.

Three railroad stations are being used for the tented "Jamboree City." In addition to Valley Forge and Port Kennedy on the Reading Company tracks south to the Schuylkill River, there is the Bettswood station of the Pennsylvania Railroad across the river.

Scouts are bringing their own camping gear, exhibits, and supplies for making attractive gateways typifying their home areas. Trucks transport this material from trainside to campsites.

America's newest "city" occupies about 625 of the 2,033 acres of Valley Forge Park. Following the encampment the Scouts will have the grounds restored to their original condition.

The Jamboree is a cooperative enterprise made possible by the forty dollar Jamboree fee paid by each participant. An Act of Congress unanimously approved by Congress and signed by President Truman authorized the loan of certain equipment without cost to the United States with a bond to insure its return to the armed services in good condition.

There are 1,190 Troop camp sites, each 90 feet by 90 feet. Each section camp comprises 34 Troops of 36 Scouts or Explorers, and three adult leaders. Each section has a service tent for the Service Troop of older Scouts, a post office and a health lodge. Each has an 18-head shower.

The Philadelphia Suburban Water Supply whose lines cross the site, is furnishing 800,000 gallons of water each day. There are six-and-a-half miles of water mains and four miles of sewer lines constructed for the Jamboree camp. Twelve miles of primary electric lines bring in 350,000 watts of power.

The Scout City's own telephone system, uses 3-80 line switchboards with 25 trunk lines connecting it with the outside world. The special telephone number assigned is "Jamboree 1950, Valley Forge, Pa."

Providing ample food for a city of 47,000 persons calls for lots of planning. Scout Leaders issue food each day in units for ten persons and it is food that won't need to be fingered. Food is being cooked by the Scouts over charcoal fires. The Mendham, N. J. Scout Troop that tested this fuel and sample menus, discovered new economical ways of its use to such an effect that it surprised even the manufacturer who sent men to observe their results.

Public Sees 'Phone System In Action

setup was used to show how the various finders, selectors and connectors picked out the correct connections when electrical impulses came through.

Some of the more recent developments included a display of the operator toll dialing system, which enables an operator to place a direct long distance call to any one of 300 cities in less than half the time used previously.

The newest invention was shown in the display of a mobile radio-telephone, now being used on cars, trains, boats and other modes of transportation. All mobile calls in this area, it was explained, are routed to Philadelphia where contact is made with the other end of the line. Private organizations, such as the Bristol police force, the tugs of the Warner Co., and some cars and trucks used by Kings farm have their own central relay station.

A model of the towers now being constructed to relay telephone and television waves was shown. These amplifying and relay towers are to be placed 30 miles apart on elevated sections and will help relieve the load now carried by the coaxial cables, which handle 4800 telephone or eight television frequencies.

A cutaway section of a telephone model showed how voice impulses are converted to electrical impulses and then back again to reproduce sound. The 433 parts used to make a telephone were also on display. Other exhibits included the batteries which supply power to the system, each capable of 10 to 20 years of service and strong enough together to supply the area with 24 hours of service should the dynamo fail; a cutaway display of the wiring used to convey calls to the central office, and a description of the telephone company's organization.

More than a dozen guides were on hand to conduct the visitors about the $337,000 plant. Some of the new equipment recently installed to take care of 800 more subscribers was shown. The Bell company plans to spend another $100,000 in the Bristol office within the next few months, according to Guillaem Aertsen, 3rd, local office manager.

Mr. Aertsen expects a larger group of visitors this evening, the last day of open house activities.

Morrisville Restricts Use of Garden Hoses

MORRISVILLE, June 29—Mayor William Burgess issued a proclamation restricting the use of garden hoses to the hours between 8 and 10 o'clock in the morning until the water situation improves there.

The limiting of the use of garden hoses was necessary, Mayor Burgess said, because the capacity of the borough water works has been overtaxed during the past few days. The resultant water shortage has affected a number of homes in the upper end of the community, it was reported.

Many new lines have been added to the Morrisville water system this year, and the 900,000-gallons-a-day capacity of the water works has not been enough to meet the heavy drain during the recent hot spell.

The police department will check on the use of hoses during the day, it was announced, and persons sprinkling lawns at hours other than those specified will be subject to a fine.

Never before do so many owe so much to those little Want Ads.

ST. ANN'S LOSES FIRST GAME ON HOME GROUNDS

St. Ann's A. A. was beaten for the first time this season on Memorial Park field last evening as it was nosed out by the Trenton Pirates, 5-4, in a well-played Trenton Industrial League game. It was the fourth time this season that the "Saints" lost a one-run ball game.

The Pirates won the tilt by scoring a run with two out in the eighth and final inning. Thompson fled out to start the inning and then Kraft socked a hit to center. Valyo was sent in to run for Kraft but he was forced at second by Mount. Steinmetz rapped a long two-bagger to right to score Mount.

The "Saints" attempted a rally in its last turn with the stick but were stopped by two nice catches in the outfield. Sassi got his third hit, a single to center. Ciarella attempted to bunt but fled out to White. Frank Barbetta batted for Cervellero and was hit by a pitched ball. Palumbo sent a long fly to right which Steinmetz caught one-handed. Sassi going to third after the catch. Bert Barbetta tagged the ball to left field but Mount made another fine catch to end the game.

Thompson had two triples for the losing team. On his second three-bagger he attempted to stretch it to a home run but was out at the plate.

Dave Muth started on the mound for the "Saints" but was knocked from the box in the first inning, the Pirates scoring four times. Paul Cervellero replaced him and blanked the visitors for the next six frames until the winning run was scored in the eighth. Cervellero was the loser.

Jack Tarr limited St. Ann's to five hits.

SOX RED-HOT FOR RED - By Alan Maver

RED CORRIDEN.
NEW CHICAGO WHITE SOX PILOT. MUST WONDER HOW LONG THIS DREAM CAN LAST—HE TOOK OVER AN 8TH PLACE OUTFIT THAT HAD WON 8 OUT OF 30, COPPED 14 OF THE NEXT 23 TO MOVE UP TWO NOTCHES IN THE STANDINGS.

Maybe the Sox are trying to end Red's cellar strangle as manager. He finished 8th as Indianapolis boss in 1930 and '31. During their surge Chicago won 6 in a row, and were first team to sweep a complete series from the Yanks.

EXPLAINS BENEFIT
PAYMENTS FOR S. S.*Married Woman's Survivors
Are Recipients of Insurance Benefits*MONTHLY PAYMENTS

"When a married woman worker dies, insurance benefits are paid to her survivors just as they are paid to survivors of other workers," Harry W. Pease, manager of the local field office of the Social Security Administration, said today.

"Monthly payments are made to certain survivors of insured workers, if the survivors were dependent upon the worker at death. If there are no survivors eligible in the month of death for monthly benefits, a lump sum equal to six times the worker's primary benefit is payable. It makes no difference if the worker was a man or woman, married or single.

Pease explained that under the present Act, the children of a couple are deemed to be dependent on their father and not on their mother if they are living with or receiving financial support from him. In this type of case, the children would not receive monthly benefits at their mother's death. However, the lump sum death benefit would be paid.

"Of course," Pease pointed out, "if the insured worker is a widow, her children are considered dependent on her and would receive benefits when she died or when she became 65."

"Anyone desiring further information regarding Social Security is invited to telephone RE-9-4898 or visit or write to the local office at 3207 Kensington Avenue, Philadelphia 34, Pa. Informational literature or speakers are available without charge upon request.

For the convenience of residents in the eastern portion of Bucks County, a representative is at the Bristol post office every Thursday from nine a. m. 'till one p. m.

BUS COMPLAINTS

HAMILTON, O.—(INS)—Television—already blamed for inroads into school grades—is now said to be cutting the profits of a city bus line. The manager of the Hamilton city lines claims many evening trips are made without picking up a single passenger. These routes, he said, previously did a heavy business in evening movie-goers. Manager Joseph Bowman blames it all on television. His movie trade has switched to TV.

PROMINENT PERSONS FLOCKING TO BUCKS

Continue to Purchase Houses Throughout
The County

MAKE RENOVATIONS

Individuals prominent in various walks of life continue to flock into Bucks County to make their homes, attracted by the natural beauty of the area. Recent sale of 12 more properties reveal new residents of the county.

One of the most recent sales made is the 76-acre country estate of Allen D. Converse, located in Solebury township, to Allan Miller, of London, England, and the Bahamas. Dr. Howard V. H. Inches, biochemist, who formerly had laboratories in Chalfont, has purchased an attractive house in Lumberville from Gladys C. Laffer, which will be used as offices for his company.

J. Lawrence Shea has moved his family from Connecticut to the Lester D. Strouse home near Doylestown.

Thomas J. Wagner, of Doylestown, has purchased the property belonging to William D. Fell, near Doylestown.

Albert B. Alexander, a U. S. government employee in Phila., has purchased the converted school house property of Russell V. Ruckman, of Hilltown township.

Allen L. Brown has purchased from Fred A. Reed, a home in Nockamixon township.

Mrs. Virginia Kent Catherwood, formerly of Philadelphia, has purchased the estate of Don Hollenbeck, in Makenfield township.

The well-known authors, authorities on art through the ages—Martha and Sheldon Cheney—have recently settled in Bucks county on a property near Carversville which they purchased from Dorothy McHugh Vavrik.

William Farr Robinson has just bought the Lumberville summer home of William H. A. Mills, who is assistant to Warren Austin, U. S. delegate to the United Nations.

Mrs. Marjorie D. Stockard, of North Carolina, acquired the hillside property of James O. Carson, near Point Pleasant, and will take possession at the end of the summer.

Elmer Harper, banker of Baltimore, Md., has purchased the 96-acre estate of Walter B. Moore, Fountainville. Mr. and Mrs. Harper expect to make extensive alterations to the stone house. Their daughter, Mrs. Vernon Roux, plans to raise show horses.

Wilford O. Rohde, Doylestown business man, has bought a large house, on Ashland street, Doylestown, from Dixon Harrison.

CENSUS

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—Philadelphia's census bureau will use 900 mechanical brains and 3,500 employees to tabulate the vital statistics of three-fourth of the nation's population. The tremendous task will mean wading through some five million facts produced by the 1950 census.

SUMMER PICNICS ARE GREAT FUN FOR THE FAMILY

By Frances Vannoy
Home Economics Extension Rep.
Whether you carry the food to the back yard or the woods, you'll have fun and good eating when you picnic with the family this summer. A bit of careful planning will make your picnics easy and pleasant. Outdoor meals mean less cooking for you since everyone likes to help with preparations for a picnic. Keep picnic menus nutritious and well-balanced so the family will keep its good health for summertime activities. Plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables, milk, meat, poultry, and cheese should be included in picnic menus.

If you have a home freezer, freeze steaks, meat patties, or broiler halves solid before starting on a picnic. Then keep them in insulated bags if you don't plan to cook them right away.

Salad greens and raw vegetable relishes will stay crisp for hours if they are well chilled and then packed loosely into plastic bags with a few ice cubes.

Carry salad dressing in separate jars and add just before serving. Molded gelatin salads and desserts pie with meringue, cakes with sticky frosting, and pudding type desserts do not carry well. Omit these foods from your picnic basket.

One picnic menu you can carry with you is as follows:
Fried chicken, Dutch potato salad, sliced tomatoes, watercress sandwiches, raw vegetable relishes.

assorted fresh fruit, cookies, milk, coffee, (in thermos).

ATTEMPT TO PLEASE WITH ZONING LAWS

Commission Assures It Will Try to Fit Wishes of Majority

FOR NEWTOWN BORO'

NEWTOWN, June 29—Assurance has been given Newtown residents that the Planning Commission here will do all possible to have Newtown zoning law fit wishes of the majority of property owners.

That all suggestions and requests will be taken under advisement is the assurance from J. Stanley Lee, commission chairman. Borough council will have submitted to it the final draft of the map and ordinance for approval; and council, will, in turn, give the public another opportunity to be heard.

Recently a number of requests were made to the commission by individuals and groups of residents in reference to changing classification of certain residential areas. It is made clear that residential classifications stem mainly from lot size.

It has been asked by John Talbot, spokesman for 13 property owners on South Chancellor street, that the 200 block be changed from R 3 to R 2.

Charles Huber has asked for extension of a provision in the proposed ordinance so that he might expand his service station on East Washington avenue.

Edward Barnsley has presented a petition that the block on the east side of State street between Center avenue and Mercer street be changed from commercial status to Residential-3. He said that the three colonial buildings there should be preserved in their present uses and that destruction of structures so important historically and architecturally should be prevented.

"One of the main purposes of zoning is to help preserve the heritage of a long-established community like Newtown and maintain cultural as well as material values," he states. He feels there should be no commercial development which might threaten some of Newtown's finest specimens of pre-Revolutionary houses.

Attorney Charles Roberts disagrees that exceptions should be made on State street. He feels that the whole thoroughfare from Jefferson to Chancellor should remain commercial. Several others have spoken in a similar vein, expressing their convictions that more business should be encouraged to come here as this part of the county develops and the cross-country highway is completed.

Ross P. Fry, 2-11 Telephone repairman, Reading, Pa.

Switchboard Specialist

In Pennsylvania there are several thousand companies whose business requires telephone operators and switchboards of their own. Obviously, it's mighty important to keep these switchboards in good running order, and to add new lines when needed.

That's the job of men such as Ross Fry of Reading, Pa. Like other Bell Telephone people, these "switchboard specialists" are all trained to do their part in the huge job of providing Pennsylvania with round-the-clock Bell Telephone service. And like other telephone people, they can count on good wages and steady employment.

Any way you look at it, the jobs of more than 30,000 Bell Telephone men and women in Pennsylvania are an important factor in the prosperity of the state.

HURLING DUEL MAY TAKE PLACE TONITE ON MEMORIAL FIELD

An old-fashioned hurling duel may be in the offing this evening on Memorial Park field as the Voltz-Texaco nine is host to Flannery's Eagles, of Pennel, in a Tri-County League tilt, starting at 6:15 o'clock.

Indications point to Earl Wagner, ace of the Voltz staff, to stack up against Jack Perry, fast-ball twirler of the Eagles. Perry held the Voltz-men to one hit, here, a week ago. Wagner has been the gasmen's best hillman.

The Voltz team, now managed by Wally Oppman, has played fine ball in its last three starts, beating Flannery's and Willow Grove, and holding the Slies team to a draw.

Manager Oppman has been using Bernie Stiles behind the plate with Charlie Glassmire at first; Jack Haines, second; Oppman, short; and Kenny Heath, third. Jack Walker, Charlie Kohler and Dave Weakley have been patrolling the outfield.

Bold in design was the action taken by our Founding Fathers on that unforgettable Fourth of July, when the Declaration of Independence proclaimed the birth of our nation. That was 174 years ago.
